

Janet Klug
Social Media Chair

Janet is a stamp collector who “never met a stamp she didn’t like.” Beginning at age six, she has formed worldwide collections as well as specialized ones of the Kingdom of Tonga and the British Commonwealth occupation of Japan after World War II, the Malayan Emergency, Samoa, and some “fun” exhibits.

She has served as President of the American Philatelic Society, the world’s largest organization for stamp collectors; vice-chair of the Smithsonian National Postal Museum’s Council of Philatelists; chair of the NPM’s New Initiatives Committee; and is currently a member of the U.S. Postal Service’s Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee.
